To the honorable the Senate and House of Representatives :

I have the honor to transmit herewith an address to the President of the United States, and through him to both houses of Congress, on the condition and wants of the people of East Tennessee, and asking their attention to the necessity of some action on the part of the government for their relief, and which address is presented by a committee of an organization called "The East Tennessee Relief Association."

Deeply commiserating the condition of these most loyal and suffering people, I am unprepared to make any specific recommendation for their relief. The military is doing, and will continue to do, the best for them within its power. Their address represents that the construction of direct railroad communication between Knoxville and Cincinnati, by way of central Kentucky, would be of great consequence in the present emergency. It may be remembered that in the annual message of December, 1861, such railroad construction was recommended. I now add, that, with the hearty concurrence of Congress, I would yet be pleased to construct the road, both for the relief of these people and for its continuing military importance.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

APRIL 28, 1864.

The same having been read,

Ordered, That it be referred to the Committee on Military Affairs and printed.

The Speaker also, by unanimous consent, laid before the House the following message this day received from the President of the United States, viz:

To the House of Representatives :

In obedience to the resolution of your honorable body, a copy of which is herewith returned, I have the honor to make the following brief statement, which is believed to contain the information sought:

Prior to and at the meeting of the present Congress, Robert C. Schenck, of Ohio, and Frank P. Blair, jr., of Missouri, members elect thereto, by and with the consent of the Senate held commissions from the Executive as major generals in the volunteer army. General Schenck tendered the resignation of his said commission, and took his seat in the House of Representatives, at the assembling thereof, upon the distinct verbal understanding with the Secretary of War and the Executive that he might, at any time during the session, at his own pleasure, withdraw said resignation and return to the field. General Blair was, by temporary assignment of General Sherman, in command of a corps through the battles in front of Chattanooga, and in the march to the relief of Knoxville, which occurred in the latter days of November and early days of December last, and of course was not present at the assembling of Congress. When he subsequently arrived here, he sought, and was allowed, by the Secretary of War and the Executive, the same conditions and promise as allowed and made to General Schenck. General Schenck has not applied to withdraw his resignation; but when General Grant was made lieutenant general, producing some change of commanders, General Blair sought to be assigned to the command of a corps. This was made known to Generals Grant and Sherman, and assented to by them, and the particular corps for him designated. This was all arranged and understood, as now remembered, so much as a month ago; but the formal withdrawal of General Blair's resignation, and making the order assigning him to the command of the corps, were not consummated at the War Department until last week, perhaps on the 23d of April instant. As a summary of the whole, it may be stated that General Blair holds no military commission or appointment other than as herein stated; and that it is believed he is now acting as a major general upon the assumed validity of the commission herein stated, in connexion with the facts herein stated, and not otherwise. There are some letters, notes, telegrams, orders, entries, and perhaps other documents, in connexion with this subject, which it is believed would throw no additional light upon it, but which will be cheerfully furnished if desired.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

APRIL 28, 1864.

Mr. Dawes moved that it be referred to the Committee of Elections and printed.

Pending which,

So the motion was agreed to.

After further debate,

Mr. Dawes renewed the demand for the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered, and under the operation thereof the said resolution was agreed to.

Mr. Dawes moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The Speaker having announced as the business in order the bill of the House (H. R. 244) to guarantee to certain States whose governments have been usurped or overthrown a republican form of government; the pending question being on the motion of Mr. Ashley to recommit the same to the select committee on the rebellious States, the same being a special order after the morning hour,

The House proceeded to its consideration.

Pending which,

On motion of Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne,

Ordered, That the evening sessions, provided for by the order of the House of the 18th instant, be devoted to the debate of such proposition as may be pending at the time of the recess, and not to business, and the morning sessions to the regular order of business.

After further debate upon the said bill, (H. R. 244,)

Mr. Lazear moved, at 4 o'clock and 20 minutes p. m., that the House take a recess until 7 o'clock p. m.; which motion was disagreed to.

The hour of 4 o'clock and 30 minutes p. m. having arrived, the House, under the order of the 18th instant, took a recess until 7 o'clock p. m.

After the recess,

On motion of Mr. Scofield, the House took a further recess for fifteen minutes.

After the second recess,

The House resumed the debate on the bill of the House (H. R. 244) to guarantee to certain States whose governments have been usurped or overthrown a republican form of government.

Pending which,

On motion of Mr. Stevens, by unanimous consent, an amendment in the nature of a substitute for the said bill, proposed to be submitted by him when in order, was ordered to be printed.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Perry, at 10 o'clock and 2 minutes p. m., the House adjourned.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1864.

The following memorials and petitions were laid upon the Clerk's table, under the 131st rule of the House:

By Mr. Wheeler: The memorial of the legislature of the State of Wisconsin, praying for a mail route from Green Bay to Ahuepec, in the same State; which was referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

By Mr. Broomall: The memorial of the Yearly Society of Friends in the State of Pennsylvania, praying for the abolition of slavery; which was referred to the Committee on the Judiciary.

By Mr. Speaker: Six petitions of citizens of the Territory of Colorado, praying that gold and silver mines may not be taxed; which were referred to the Committee of Ways and Means.

By Mr. McIndoe: The memorial of the legislature of the State of Wisconsin, praying for increased mail facilities for military transportation; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

By Mr. Cole: The petition of citizens of the State of California relative to settlers on the public lands in that State; which was referred to the Committee on Public Lands.

By Mr. Denison: The memorial of citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, praying for increased pay to soldiers; which was referred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Brandegee, by unanimous consent, introduced a bill (H. R. 437) for the relief of Lucretia M. Perry, widow of Paymaster Perry, United States navy; which was read a first and second time and referred to the Committee on Invalid Pensions.

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Commerce, reported two communications addressed to him as chairman of said committee, viz:

1. From the Secretary of the Treasury, in regard to captured and abandoned property in insurrectionary States, &c.

2. From the Secretary of State, inviting attention to certain amendments to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill.

Ordered, That the said communications be printed and referred to the said committee.

Mr. Stevens, from the Select Committee on the Pacific Railroad, by unanimous consent, reported a bill (H. R. 438) to amend an act entitled "An act to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from the Missouri river to the Pacific ocean, and to secure to the government the use of the same for postal, military, and other purposes," approved July 1, 1862; which was read a first and second time, recommitted to the said committee with leave to report at any time, and ordered to be printed.

Mr. Garfield, by unanimous consent, submitted a preamble and resolution, which he modified to read as follows, and which was read, considered, and agreed to, viz:

Whereas in the House of Representatives, on the 23d instant, Hon. Francis P. Blair, jr., made the following declarations, as reported in the Globe:

"Mr. Blair, of Missouri, (resuming.) Now I propose to show that the Secretary of the Treasury, with all the commerce of the country in his hands, with the collection of our foreign revenues and of the vast internal revenues in his hands, is using these abandoned plantations and grasping at all power and patronage for the purpose of providing a fund to carry on his war against the administration which gave him place." * * *

"Nobody is simple enough to believe that the distinguished Secretary has really retired from the canvass for the nomination for the Presidency, although he has written a letter declining to be a candidate. That letter was written because the 'strictly private' circular of the Pomeroy committee unearthed his underground and underhand intrigue against the President. It was such a disgraceful and disgusting sight to make use of the patronage and power given him by the President, against his chief, that even Chase got ashamed to occupy such a position publicly. For that reason his letter was written; he wanted to get down under the ground and work there in the dark as he is now doing, and running the Pomeroy machine on the public money as vigorously as ever."

And whereas in the World, a journal published in New York, on the 28th instant, it is declared that developments of the most astounding character have just come to light in the fractional currency and printing bureaus over which Mr. Clark presides; and whereas Hon. James Brooks, a member of this house, did yesterday in his place repeat the substance of the above charges in the words following, taken at the reporter's desk:

"At an early period of the session I called on the other side of the House in this matter of printing public money, and I gave them an opportunity to correct that great evil, which, because they did not correct, has led to the sacrifice of millions and millions of the public money in the printing bureau of the treasury of the United States, and to the conversion of the Treasury Department into a house for orgies and bacchanals:" Therefore,

Resolved, That a committee of nine be appointed by the Speaker of the House to investigate and report upon the truth of the allegations above quoted, and of any other allegations which have been or may be made, affecting the integrity of the administration in the Treasury Department; and that said committee have power to send for persons and papers, and to employ a stenographer.

Mr. Garfield moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

The Speaker appointed Mr. Garfield, Mr. Wilson, Mr. Brooks, Mr. H. Winter Davis, Mr. Stuart, Mr. Fenton, Mr. Dawson, Mr. Jencks, and Mr. William G. Steele the said committee.

A message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Nicolay, his private secretary, notifying the House that he did, on the 29th instant, approve and sign a joint resolution and bills of the following titles, viz:

H. Res. 67. Joint resolution to increase temporarily the duties on imports;

H. R. 367. An act to provide for the collection of hospital dues from vessels of the United States sold or transferred in foreign ports or waters;

H. R. 62. An act fixing certain rules and regulations for preventing collisions on the water; and

H. R. 408. An act for the relief of postmasters who have been robbed by confederate forces or rebel guerillas.

Mr. Cobb, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined and found truly enrolled bills of the following titles, viz:

H. R. 47. An act for the relief of William C. Walker and others; and

H. R. 388. An act for the relief of Jesse Williams.

When

The Speaker signed the same.

Mr. Stevens, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to whom was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 198) making appropriations for the support of the army for the year ending the 30th June, 1865, with the amendments of the Senate thereto, reported the same, recommending concurrence in the 8th amendment with an amendment, and concurrence in the remaining amendments without amendment.

The House having, by unanimous consent, proceeded to their consideration,

The amendments numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 were severally read and agreed to.

The 6th amendment having been read,

Mr. Holman moved to amend the same by striking out the word "pay," in section 2, line 6, of said amendment.

Pending which, after debate,

Mr. Holman proposed to modify his said amendment, as follows: Strike out all of the 6th amendment of the Senate after the said word "pay," to the end of said section, and insert in lieu thereof, "as other soldiers of the regular or volunteer service: Provided, however, That the pay of the private soldier of the army shall be twenty dollars per month from and after the 1st day of January, 1864, with a corresponding increase in the pay of the non-commissioned officers."

The Speaker decided that the said proposed modification was not in order, on the ground that it changed an existing law, which, by the rules of the House, was prohibited in an amendment to an appropriation bill, and was not germane to the Senate's amendment.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Holman appealed.

Pending which,

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne moved that the appeal be laid on the table.

Whereas the health of this city is of paramount importance, and the same is greatly endangered by an immense accumulation of filth in the Washington canal, from which a most deleterious miasma is continually rising to impregnate the atmosphere already charged with poisonous vapor from surrounding hospitals, which, in all probability, will be largely increased during the present summer: Therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee for the District of Columbia be directed to inquire into the expediency of draining by culvert, or in some way improving the Washington canal, that it may be cleansed, and the health of the city preserved, and that they report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Wilson, by unanimous consent, submitted the following resolution; which was read, considered, and agreed to, viz:

Resolved, That the Secretary of the Navy be directed to furnish this House with all the information in his possession concerning the construction of the rebel ram which participated in the recent rebel attack on the United States forces and vessels at and near Plymouth; also, to inform the House why the construction of said ram was not prevented; whether any steps were taken to prevent the same, or to guard against the action of said ram; also, what action was taken in relation to the subject of this inquiry, and why the same was not effective.

To the honorable the House of Representatives:

In compliance with the request contained in your resolution of the 29th ultimo, a copy of which resolution is herewith returned, I have the honor to transmit the following :

“EXECUTIVE MANSION,
“Washington, November 2, 1863.

“MY DEAR SIR : Some days ago I understood you to say that your brother, General Frank Blair, desires to be guided by my wishes as to whether he will occupy his seat in Congress, or remain in the field. My wish, then, is compounded of what I believe will be best for the country and best for him, and it is, that he will come here, put his military commission in my hands, take his seat, go into caucus with our friends, abide the nominations, help elect the nominees, and thus aid to organize a House of Representatives which will really support the government in the war. If the result shall be the election of himself as Speaker, let him serve in that position ; if not, let him retake his commission and return to the army. For the country, this will heal a dangerous schism. For him, it will relieve from a dangerous position. By a misunderstanding, as I think, he is in danger of being permanently separated from those with whom only he can ever have a real sympathy—the sincere opponents of slavery. It will be a mistake if he shall allow the provocations offered him by insincere time-servers to drive him from the house of his own building. He is young yet. He has abundant talents—quite enough to occupy all his time without devoting any to temper. He is rising in military skill and usefulness. His recent appointment to the command of a corps by one so competent to judge as General Sherman proves this. In that line he can serve both the country and himself more profitably than he could as a member of Congress upon the floor. The foregoing is what I would say if Frank Blair were my brother instead of yours.

“Yours truly,

“A. LINCOLN.

“HEADQUARTERS MIDDLE DEPARTMENT, 8TH ARMY CORPS, “Baltimore, Maryland, November 13, 1863.

“SIR: Enclosed I forward to the President my resignation, to take effect on the 5th of December.

“I respectfully request, however, that I may be relieved from my command at an earlier day, say by the 20th instant, or as soon thereafter as some officer can be ordered to succeed me. While I desire to derange the plans or hurry the action of the department as little as possible, it will be a great convenience to me to secure some little time before the session of Congress for a necessary journey, and for some preparations for myself and family in view of my approaching change of residence and occupation. I could also spend two or three days very profitably, I think, to the service of my successor after his arrival here.

When

Mr. Dawson submitted the following preamble and resolution, viz:

Whereas it was solemnly declared by this house on the 22d day of July, 1861, speaking in the name of the people of the United States and in the face of the world, that the present civil war was waged for no purpose of conquest or oppression, but solely to restore the Union, with all the rights of the people and of the States unimpaired; and whereas a civil war like the present is the most grievous of all national calamities, producing, as it does, bloodshed, spoliation, and anarchy, public debt, official corruption, and general demoralization; and whereas the American government cannot rightfully wage war upon any portion of its people except for the sole purpose of vindicating the Constitution and laws, and restoring both to their just supremacy; and whereas a restoration of peace is essential to the perpetuation of a system of republican government, it is now eminently befitting a Christian and homogeneous people, in the triumph of our arms and in the exultation of victory, to tender the olive-branch as a substitute for the sword: Therefore,

Resolved, That the President be required to make known by public proclamation, or otherwise, to all the country, that whenever any State now in insurrection shall submit herself to the authority of the federal government, as defined by the Constitution, all hostilities against her shall cease, and such State shall be protected from all external interference with her local laws and institutions, and her people shall be guaranteed in the full enjoyment of all those rights which the federal Constitution gave them; and in the exercise of a sound and patriotic discretion, he shall proclaim a general amnesty to all those who, by false counsels, have been induced to engage in the work of rebellion.

The same having been read,

Pending which,

The morning hour having expired,

Whereas the following announcement appeared in the Moniteur, the official journal of the French government:

“Le gouvernement de l'Empereur a reçu du gouvernement des États-Unis des explications satisfaisantes sur le sens et la portée de la résolution prise par l'assemblée des représentants à Washington, au sujet des affaires du Mexique.

“On sait, d'ailleurs, que le Sénat avait déjà ajourné indéfiniment l'examen de cette résolution, à laquelle, dans tous les cas, le pouvoir exécutif n'eût point accordé sa sanction.”—Moniteur.

Therefore,

Resolved, That the President be requested to communicate to this house, if not inconsistent with the public interest, any explanations given by the government of the United States to the government of France respecting the sense and bearing of the joint resolution relative to Mexico, which passed the House of Representatives unanimously on the 4th of April, 1864.

The House having, by unanimous consent, proceeded to its consideration,

Ordered, That the said joint resolution be engrossed and read a third time.

Being engrossed, it was accordingly read the third time and passed.

Mr. Stevens moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk request the concurrence of the Senate in the said joint resolution.

R. 483) granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Lake Superior to Puget sound, on the Pacific coast, by the northern route; which was read a first and second time, recommitted to the said committee, and ordered to be printed.

In section 41, strike out the following words: "And nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the taxation by States of the capital stock of banks organized under this act, the same as the property of other moneyed corporations, for State or municipal purposes; but no State shall impose any tax upon such associations, or their capital, circulation, dividends, or business, at a higher rate of taxation than shall be imposed by such State upon the same amount of moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such State: Provided, That no State tax shall be imposed on any part of the capital stock of such association invested in the bonds of the United States, deposited as security for its circulation;" and insert in lieu thereof the following words, viz: "*And in lieu of all existing taxes, every association shall pay to the Treasurer of the United States, in the months of January and July, a duty of one-half of one per centum each half year from and after the first day of January, eighteen hundred and sixtyfour, upon the average amount of its notes in circulation, and a duty of one-quarter of one per centum each half year upon the average amount of its deposits, and a duty of one-quarter of one per centum each half year, as aforesaid, on the average amount of its capital stock beyond the amount invested in United States bonds; and in case of default in the payment thereof by any association, the duties aforesaid may be collected in the manner provided for the collection of United States duties of other corporations, or the Treasurer may reserve the amount of said duties out of the interest, as it may become due, on the bonds deposited with him by such defaulting association. And it shall be the duty of each association, within ten days from the first days of January and July of each year, to make a return, under the oath of its president or cashier, to the Treasurer of the United States, in such form as he may prescribe, of the average amount of its notes in circulation, and of the average amount of its deposits, and of the average amount of its capital stock, beyond the amount invested in United States bonds, for the six months next preceding said first days of January and July as aforesaid: and in default of such return, and for each default thereof, each defaulting association shall forfeit and pay to the United States the sum of two hundred dollars, to be collected either out of the interest as it may become due such association on the bonds deposited with the Treasurer, or, at his option, in the manner in which penalties are to be collected of other corporations under the laws of the United States; and in case of such default, the amount of duties to be paid by such association shall be assessed upon the amount of notes delivered to such association by the Comptroller of the Currency, and upon the highest amount of its deposits and capital stock, to be ascertained in such other manner as the Treasurer may deem best: Provided, That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent the market value of the shares in any of the said associations, held by any person or body corporate, from being included in the valuation of the personal property of such person or corporation in the assessment of all taxes imposed by or under State authority for State, county, or municipal purposes, but not at greater rate than is assessed upon other moneyed capital in the hands of individual citizens of such State. And all the remedies provided by State laws for the collection of such taxes shall be applicable thereto: Provided, further, That no tax shall be imposed under the laws of any State upon the shares in any of the associations authorized by this act at a rate exceeding that imposed upon the shares in banks organized under authority of the State where such association is located: Provided, also, That nothing in this act shall exempt the real estate of associations from either State, county, or municipal taxes to the same extent, according to its value, as other real estate is taxed ;"*

And resolved, further, That the same committee be instructed to inquire whether any disloyal persons are employed as clerks in any of the departments of the government; and if so, who are responsible for such employment; and that the committee have authority to send for persons and papers, to compel the attendance of witnesses, and to report the facts to this house at any time.

Mr. Cornelius Cole moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Mr. Lazear moved that the rules be suspended, so as to enable him to submit the following preamble and resolutions, viz:

Whereas the fratricidal war which has for the last three years filled every neighborhood of our once united and happy country with mourning, and has drenched a hundred battle-fields with the blood of our fellow-citizens, and laid waste many of the fairest portions of the land, and yet has failed to restore the authority of the federal government in the seceded States; and whereas we believe a misapprehension exists in the minds of a large portion of the people of the south as to the feelings which actuate a large portion of the people of the free States, and which misapprehension we are called upon by every consideration of humanity and a sense of justice to correct and if possible remove, whether we regard in making this effort what we owe to ourselves, to our fellow-countrymen of the south, or to the world: Therefore,

Resolved, That no truly loyal citizen of the United States desires the application of any rule or law in determining the rights and privileges and the measure of responsibility of the people of any of the States but such as shall have been determined by the Supreme Court to be in accordance with and sanctioned by the Constitution and well-established usages of the country.

Resolved, That the President, in his capacity of commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, be, and he is hereby, required to adopt such measures as he may think best, with a view to a suspension of hostilities between the armies of the north and the south for a period not exceeding ——— days; and that he be also authorized to adopt or agree upon some plan upon which the decision of the great body of the people north and south may be secured upon the question of calling a convention composed of delegates from all the States, to which shall be referred the settlement of all questions now dividing the southern States from the rest of the Union, with a view to the restoration of the several States to the places they were intended to occupy in the Union, and the privileges intended to be granted to them by the framers of our national Constitution, who were, in our opinion, the most enlightened statesmen and purest patriots that ever lived, and than whom we cannot hope to find wiser or better counsellors in the present exigency in our national affairs.

Pending which,

Mr. Dawes moved a reconsideration of the vote by which the joint resolution of the Senate (S. Res. 57) to amend the charter of the city of Washington was referred to the Committee for the District of Columbia.

So the joint resolution was laid on the table.

A message was received from the President of the United States, by Mr. Stoddard, his private secretary, notifying the House that he did, on the 11th instant, approve and sign bills of the following titles, viz:

H. R. 487. An act to provide for the execution of treaties between the United States and foreign nations respecting consular jurisdiction over the crews of vessels of such foreign nations in the waters and ports of the United States;

H. R. 422. An act to amend an act entitled "An act to confirm certain land claims in the Territory of New Mexico;" and

H. R. 355. An act to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to stipulate for the release from attachment or other process of property claimed by the United States, and for other purposes.

Mr. Beaman, by unanimous consent, submitted the following preamble and resolution; which were read, considered, and agreed to, viz:

Whereas since the recent battles in Virginia, which resulted in the wounding of many thousands of our soldiers, the most intense anxiety has prevailed among our people at home, demanding early and exact information as to the condition of their relatives in hospitals; and whereas members of Congress are daily receiving from their constituents telegrams and letters of inquiry touching the true condition of such wounded soldiers, and also messages from the soldiers themselves, requesting their attention; and whereas in some of the hospitals in this city members of Congress are absolutely excluded from visiting their sick and wounded constituents, and utterly prohibited from seeing them, or any of them, at any time whatever: Therefore,

Resolved, That the Committee on the Conduct of the War be instructed to inquire and report whether there is any good and substantial reason for such exclusion; and in case they do not find it incompatible with the safety and interest of such sick and wounded soldiers, that they then recommend the adoption of some regulation whereby members of Congress shall be permitted at all seasonable hours to visit any and all of the hospitals of the United States without let or hindrance.

Mr. Beaman moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

On motion of Mr. Webster, by unanimous consent, the bill of the Senate (S. 293) to empower the Superannuated Fund Society of the Maryland Annual Conference to hold property in the District of Columbia, and to take a devise under the will of the late William Doughty, was taken from the Speaker's table, read three times, and passed.

Mr. Webster moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

Ordered, That the Clerk acquaint the Senate with the passage of the said bill.

On motion of Mr. William H. Miller, by unanimous consent, he was excused for recent absence from the House on account of sickness.

The Speaker having announced as the business next in order the motion submitted by Mr. Lazear, and pending when the House adjourned on the 30th ultimo, to suspend the rules, so as to enable him to submit a preamble and resolutions in regard to the present war,

The question was put on the said motion,

And it was decided in the negative—two-thirds not voting in favor thereof.

So the House refused to suspend the rules.

The House then resumed, as the special order for this time, the further consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 512) to repeal the fugitive slave act of 1850, and all acts and parts of acts for the rendition of fugitive slaves—the pending question being on its passage, and upon which Mr. Daniel Morris had moved the previous question.

Mr. Morris having withdrawn the said demand,

After debate,

Mr. Farnsworth moved the previous question; which was seconded and the main question ordered and put, viz: Shall the bill pass?

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne moved the previous question on the pending amendment to the bill of the House No. 549; which was seconded and the main question ordered to be put.

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

And then,

On motion of Mr. Schenck, at 5 o'clock and 35 minutes p. m., the House adjourned.

MONDAY, JUNE 27, 1864.

The following petitions and other papers were laid upon the Clerk's table, under the 131st rule of the House:

By Mr. Julian: The petition of citizens of the State of Indiana, praying for a mail route from Hagerstown to Farmland; which was referred to the Committee on the Post Office and Post Roads.

By Mr. Ganson: The petition of James Doty, praying that Congress may investigate his case of alleged false arrest and imprisonment; which was referred to the Joint Committee on the Conduct of the War.

Mr. Harrington, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Private Land Claims, submitted the views of a minority of said committee in the matter of the claim of the heirs of John E. Bouligny; which were committed to a Committee of the Whole House and ordered to be printed.

Mr. H. Winter Davis, by unanimous consent, from the Committee on Foreign Affairs, submitted a report in writing upon the correspondence communicated by the President relative to the resolution on Mexican affairs, accompanied by the following resolution:

Resolved, That Congress has a constitutional right to an authoritative voice in declaring and prescribing the foreign policy of the United States, as well in the recognition of new powers as in other matters, and it is the constitutional duty of the President to respect that policy not less in diplomatic negotiations than in the use of the national force when authorized by law; and the propriety of any declaration of foreign policy by Congress is sufficiently proved by the vote which pronounces it, and each proposition while pending and undetermined is not a fit topic of diplomatic explanation with any foreign power.

Ordered, That the report and resolution be laid on the table and printed.

The Speaker having proceeded, as the regular order of business, to call the committees for reports for commitment,

Mr. William H. Miller, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was referred the petition of Horace Gates, reported a bill (H. On motion of Mr. Ross,

Ordered, That the Committee on Invalid Pensions be discharged from the further consideration of the petition of Samuel S. Bingham, and that the same be laid on the table.

So the said resolution was agreed to.

Mr. Cox moved that the vote last taken be reconsidered, and also moved that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table; which latter motion was agreed to.

A message from the Senate, by Mr. Hickey, their chief clerk:

Mr. Speaker: The Senate have agreed to the amendments of this house to the bill of the Senate (S. 190) to establish a navy yard and depot at Cairo, in the State of Illinois.

The Senate have passed a joint resolution and bills of this house of the following titles, viz:

H. Res. 111. Joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of the Interior to reclaim and preserve certain property of the United States; without amendment; and

H. R. 446. An act to regulate prize proceedings and the distribution of prize money, and for other purposes;

H. R. 411. An act to encourage immigration; and

H. R. 483. An act granting lands to aid in the construction of a railroad and telegraph line from Lake Superior to Puget's sound, on the Pacific coast, by the northern route; severally with amendments, in which I am directed to ask the concurrence of this house.

The House then resumed, as the regular order of business, the consideration of the bill of the House (H. R. 549) further to regulate and provide for the enrolling and calling out of the national forces, and for other purposes—the pending questions being on the amendments heretofore submitted thereto.

When

Mr. Garfield moved, at 4 o'clock and 5 minutes p. m., that the House adjourn; which motion was disagreed to.

The amendment submitted by Mr. Garfield was then read and disagreed to.

The amendment submitted by Mr. Schenck to the amendment submitted by Mr. Broomall was then read as follows, viz: Strike out all after the word "That," where it first occurs, and insert in lieu thereof the following: "so much of the act entitled 'An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved March third, eighteen hundred and sixty-three, and of the several acts amendatory thereof, as provides for a commutation in money, to be paid by persons enrolled or drafted for military service, in lieu of actually rendering such military service, be, and the same is hereby, repealed; and hereafter no payment of money shall be accepted or received by the government to release any enrolled or drafted man from obligation to perform military duty."

"SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the President of the United States may, at his discretion, at any time hereafter, order a draft for soldiers to serve for a less period than three years: Provided, however, That no such draft shall be for a less term of service than one year.

"SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the President shall accompany any order for a draft of men for military service with a notice that he will accept volunteers in lieu of such drafted men prior to the day appointed for the draft, to fill the quota, or any part thereof, of any town, township, ward, precinct, or election district, or of any county not so subdivided; and every person so volunteering, in lieu of a man to be drafted, shall be credited to such town, township, ward, precinct, or election district, or county not so subdivided; and if he volunteers and is accepted and mustered into the service for a term of one year, unless sooner discharged, shall receive and be paid by the United States a bounty of one hundred dollars, and if for a term of two years, unless sooner discharged, a bounty of two hundred dollars, and if for a term of three years, unless sooner discharged, a bounty of three hundred dollars, one-half of which said bounty shall be paid to the soldier at the time of his being mustered into the service, one-fourth at the expiration of one-half his term of service, and one-fourth at the end of his term of service. And in case of his death when in the service, any portion of his bounty then remaining unpaid shall be paid to his legal representatives; and in case he is honorably discharged from wounds or sickness incurred in the service, while in the line of his duty, he shall receive the full bounty. And the President in any call or order for a draft shall specify the exact time of service for which such draft is to be made; and the volunteers accepted in lieu of the whole or any part of the quotas to be provided under that draft shall be for not less than the term of service for which that draft is ordered.

"SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That drafted men, substitutes, and volunteers, when mustered in, shall be organized into or assigned to regiments, batteries, or other organizations of their own States, and, as far as practicable, shall, when assigned, be permitted to select their own regiments, batteries, or other organizations, from among those of their respective States which at the time of assignment may not be filled to their maximum number.

"SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the twentieth section of the act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved February twenty-four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, shall be construed to mean that the Secretary of War shall discharge minors under the age of eighteen years, under the circumstances and on the conditions prescribed in said section; and hereafter, if any officer of the United States shall knowingly enlist or muster into the military service any person under the age of sixteen years, with or without the consent of his parent or guardian, such person so enlisted or recruited shall be immediately and unconditionally discharged; and such recruiting or mustering officer shall be dismissed the service, with forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and shall be subject to such further punishment as a court-martial may direct.

"SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That section three of an act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved February twenty-four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to authorize and direct district provost marshals, under the direction of the Provost Marshal General, to make a draft for fifty per centum in addition to the number required to fill the quota of any district, as provided by said section.

"SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That, instead of travelling pay, all drafted persons reporting at the place of rendezvous shall be allowed transportation from their places of residence; and persons discharged at the place of rendezvous shall be allowed transportation to their places of residence.

"SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That any persons resident in Virginia,

North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, or Arkansas, who may voluntarily enlist in the military service of the United States, for a term of not more than three years, or during the war, or not less than one year, shall be entitled to the benefits and privileges of existing laws; and such persons shall be mustered into the regiments, or other organizations, of whatsoever State they may elect, or, in the case of colored troops, shall be assigned as now provided by law. And the States or subdivisions of States procuring such enlistments shall receive credit for such persons, in accordance with the laws in other cases: Provided, That such enlistments as are authorized in any State, under the provisions of this act, shall only continue until such State shall have been made subject to a call for troops: And provided, further, That no enlistments shall be made of any soldiers, either in or out of any State, except those enumerated herein, unless full credit is given to the State to which the enlisted soldier belongs."

Any person who may be drafted may purchase the like exemption by paying five hundred dollars at any time not less than ten days after he shall be duly notified that he is drafted. The commutation money thus paid shall go into the treasury for the purpose of paying the bounties herein provided for.*

"SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That to enable the several States to raise the number of troops allotted to them respectively, the governors of said States may appoint such number of recruiting officers as they may deem proper, and when companies and regiments shall be enlisted, shall commission such company and regimental officers as shall be deemed competent.

"SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That when, in the judgment of the President, the regiments of the army are so reduced as to require consolidation they may be consolidated, and the supernumerary officers may be detailed for the purpose of raising new companies and regiments.

"SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That if the requisite number of soldiers shall not be raised at the first draft, a second draft may be ordered to take place within ten days, or any longer period which the President may deem proper, of the men remaining unexempted and undrawn, and may be repeated from time to time until the full number shall be obtained.

"SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That every person who shall volunteer as a soldier, and be regularly enlisted, shall receive a bounty of five hundred dollars, one half thereof to be paid to him when mustered into the service of the United States, and the other half at the end of his term of service; or if honorably discharged, or if he shall be killed or die in the service, or of disease contracted or of a wound received in the service while in the line of his duty, before the expiration of the term of enlistment, it shall go to his widow if there be one, and in case there be no widow, then to his children, and in case there be no widow or children, then to his personal representatives.

"SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for any of the States to send recruiting agents into any of the rebel States to enlist soldiers, who shall be credited to the State that may procure their enlistment, and it shall be the duty of the Secretary of War to approve the appointment of agents selected by the governors of the respective States.

And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the President, if he shall deem it expedient, to accept the services of any number not exceeding fifty thousand volunteers, between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five, to be used for post or garrison duty. Such soldiers, when enlisted for two years, unless sooner discharged, shall be entitled to receive one hundred dollars bounty, one half to be paid when mustered into service, the other half at the expiration of their term, if honorably discharged; and if they should be killed or die in the service of the United States, or of diseases contracted or of a wound received in the service while in the line of duty, it shall be paid to their respective widows, children, or personal representatives in the same manner as is provided in section six of this act; and they and their heirs shall be entitled to such pensions as are now provided by law for other soldiers, who shall be called the 'Old Guard.' When a drafted man shall claim exemption on account of physical disability, the surgeon shall examine into the degree of disability. If found unfit for active service, but fit for garrison or post service, he shall be certified accordingly and placed into the 'Old Guard.'

"SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the twentieth section of the act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved February twenty-four, eighteen hundred and sixty-four, shall be construed to mean that the Secretary of War shall discharge minors under the age of eighteen years, under the circumstances and on the conditions prescribed in said section; and hereafter, if any officer of the United States shall knowingly enlist or muster into the military service any person under the age of sixteen years, with or without the consent of his parent or guardian, such person so enlisted or recruited shall be immediately and unconditionally discharged, and such recruiting or mustering officer shall be dismissed the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and shall be subject to such further punishment as a court-martial may direct."

"SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That in case the quota or any part thereof of any town, township, ward, precinct, or election district, or of any county not so subdivided, shall not be filled within the space of sixty days after such call, then the President shall order a draft for one year to fill such quota or any part thereof which may be unfilled; and in case of any such draft, no payment of money shall be accepted or received by the government as commutation to release any enrolled or drafted man from personal obligation to perform military service.

"SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That it shall be lawful for the executive of any of the States to send recruiting agents into any of the States declared to be in rebellion to recruit volunteers under any call under the provisions of this act, who shall be credited to the State and to the respective subdivisions thereof which may procure the enlistment.

"SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That drafted men, substitutes, and volunteers, when mustered in, shall be organized into or assigned to regiments, batteries, or other organizations of their own States, and, as far as practicable, shall, when assigned, be permitted to select their own regiments, batteries, or other organizations from among those of their respective States which at the time of assignment may not be filled to their maximum number.

"SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That the twentieth section of the act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved February 24, 1864, shall be construed to mean that the Secretary of War shall discharge minors under the age of eighteen years, under the circumstances and on the conditions prescribed in said section; and hereafter if any officer of the United States shall knowingly enlist or muster into the military service any person under the age of sixteen years, with or without the consent of his parent or guardian, such person so enlisted or recruited shall be immediately and unconditionally discharged, and such recruiting or mustering officer shall be dismissed the service with forfeiture of all pay and allowances, and shall be subject to such further punishment as a court-martial may direct.

And be it further enacted, That section three of an act entitled 'An act to amend an act entitled An act for enrolling and calling out the national forces, and for other purposes,' approved February 24, 1864, be, and the same is hereby, amended so as to authorize and direct district provost marshals, under the direction of the Provost Marshal General, to make a draft for fifty per cent. in addition to the number required to fill the quota of any district, as provided by said section.

"SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That, instead of travelling pay, all drafted persons reporting at the place of rendezvous shall be allowed transportation from their places of residence; and persons discharged at the place of rendezvous shall be allowed transportation to their places of residence.

"SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That all persons in the naval service of the United States who have entered said service during the present rebellion, who have not been credited to the quota of any town, district, ward, or State, by reason of their being in said service and not enrolled prior to February 24, 1864, shall be enrolled and credited to the quotas of the town, ward, district, or State in which they respectively reside.

"SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That if any person duly drafted shall be absent from home in prosecution of his usual business, the provost marshal of the district shall cause him to be duly notified as soon as may be, and he shall not be deemed a deserter, nor liable as such, until notice has been given to him and reasonable time allowed for him to return and report to the provost marshal of his district; but such absence shall not otherwise affect his liability under this act."

So the motion to reconsider was laid on the table.

Mr. Cobb, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that the committee had examined and found truly enrolled a joint resolution of the following title, viz:

H. Res. 123. Joint resolution to correct errors in the internal revenue bill; When

The Speaker signed the same.

Mr. Stevens, from the joint committee to wait on the President of the United States, reported that the committee had discharged the duty imposed upon them, and that the President had informed them that he had no further communication to make to Congress at the present session.

The Speaker, in obedience to the order of the two houses, declared the House of Representatives for the 1st session of the 38th Congress adjourned sine die.

TOUCHING THE DUTY OF THE SPEAKER.

1. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned on the preceding day; shall immediately call the members to order; and, on the appearance of a quorum, shall cause the journal of the preceding day to be read.—April 7, 1789.

2. He shall preserve order and decorum; may speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose; and shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members—April 7, 1789; on which appeal no member shall speak more than once, unless by leave of the House.—December 23, 1811.

3. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.—April 7, 1789.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to wit: "As many as are of opinion that (as the question may be) say Ay;" and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of the contrary opinion, say No." If the Speaker doubt, or a division be called for, the House shall decide; those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative. If the Speaker still doubt, or a count be required by at least one-fifth of a quorum of the members, the Speaker shall name two members, one from each side, to tell the members in the affirmative and negative; which being reported, he shall rise and state the decision to the House.—March 16, 1860.

5. The Speaker shall examine and correct the journal before it is read. He shall have a general direction of the hall, and the unappropriated rooms in that part of the Capitol assigned to the House shall be subject to his order and disposal until the further order of the House. He shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the Chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment.—December 23, 1811, and May 26, 1824.

6. No person shall be permitted to perform divine service in the chamber occupied by the House of Representatives, unless with the consent of the Speaker.—May 19, 1804.

7. In all cases of ballot by the House, the Speaker shall vote; in other cases he shall not be required to vote, unless the House be equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal; and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.—April 7, 1789.

8. All acts, addresses, and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker; and all writs, warrants, and subpoenas issued by order of the House shall be under his hand and seal, attested by the Clerk.—November 13, 1794.

9. In case of any disturbance or disorderly conduct in the galleries or lobby, the Speaker (or chairman of the Committee of the Whole House) shall have power to order the same to be cleared.—March 14, 1794.

ORDER OF BUSINESS OF THE DAY.

51. On the call for reports from committees on each alternate Monday, which shall commence as soon as the journal is read, all bills reported during the first hour after the journal is read shall be committed, without debate, to the Committee of the Whole, and, together with their accompanying reports, printed; and if during the hour all the committees are not called, then, on the next alternate Monday, the Speaker shall commence where such call was suspended: Provided, That no bill reported under the call on alternate Mondays, and committed, shall be again brought before the House by a motion to reconsider.—March 16, 1860.

52. Reports from committees having been presented and disposed of, the Speaker shall call for resolutions from the members of each State and delegate from each Territory, beginning with Maine and the Territory last organized alternately; and they shall not be debated on the very day of their being presented, nor on any day assigned by the House for the receipt of resolutions, unless where the House shall direct otherwise, but shall lie on the table, to be taken up in the order in which they were presented; and if on any day the whole of the States and Territories shall not be called, the Speaker shall begin on the next day where he left off the previous day: Provided, That no member shall offer more than one resolution, or one series of resolutions, all relating to the same subject, until all the States and Territories shall have been called.—January 14, 1829.

53. A proposition requesting information from the President of the United States, or directing it to be furnished by the head of either of the executive departments, or by the Postmaster General, shall lie on the table one day for consideration, unless otherwise ordered by the unanimous consent of the House—December 13, 1820; and all such propositions shall be taken up for consideration in the order they were presented, immediately after reports are called for from select committees; and when adopted, the Clerk shall cause the same to be delivered.—January 22, 1822.

54. After one hour shall have been devoted to reports from committees and resolutions, it shall be in order, pending the consideration or discussion thereof, to entertain a motion that the House do now proceed to dispose of the business on the Speaker's table, and to the orders of the day—January 5, 1832; which being decided in the affirmative, the Speaker shall dispose of the business on his table in the following order, viz:

2d. Messages from the Senate, and amendments proposed by the Senate to bills of the House.

3d. Bills and resolutions from the Senate on their first and second reading, that they be referred to committees and put under way; but if, on being read a second time, no motion being made to commit, they are to be ordered to their third reading, unless objection be made; in which case, if not otherwise ordered by a majority of the House, they are to be laid on the table in the general file of bills on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in their turn.

4th. Engrossed bills and bills from the Senate on their third reading.

5th. Bills of the House and from the Senate, on the Speaker's table, on their engrossment, or on being ordered to a third reading, to be taken up and considered in the order of time in which they passed to a second reading.

The messages, communications, and bills on his table having been disposed of, the Speaker shall then proceed to call the orders of the day.—September 14, 1837.

55. The business specified in the 54th and 130th rules shall be done at no other part of the day, except by permission of the House.—December 23, 1811.

56. The consideration of the unfinished business in which the House may be engaged at an adjournment shall be resumed as soon as the journal of the next day is read, and at the same time each day thereafter until disposed of; and if, from any cause, other business shall intervene, it shall be resumed as soon as such other business is disposed of. And the consideration of all other unfinished business shall be resumed whenever the class of business to which it belongs shall be in order under the rules.—March 16, 1860.

60. No member shall occupy more than one hour in debate on any question in the House, or in committee; but a member reporting the measure under consideration from a committee may open and close the debate: Provided, That where debate is closed by order of the House, any member shall be allowed, in committee, five minutes to explain any amendment he may offer—December 18, 1847—after which any member who shall first obtain the floor shall be allowed to speak five minutes in opposition to it, and there shall be no further debate on the amendment; but the same privilege of debate shall be allowed in favor of and against any amendment that may be offered to the amendment; and neither the amendment nor an amendment to the amendment shall be withdrawn by the mover thereof, unless by the unanimous consent of the committee—August 14, 1850: Provided, further, That the House may, by the vote of a majority of the members present, at any time after the five minutes' debate has taken place upon proposed amendments to any section or paragraph of a bill, close all debate upon such section or paragraph, or at their election upon the pending amendments only.—March 19, 1860.

61. If any member, in speaking or otherwise, transgress the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call to order; in which case, the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, unless permitted to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide on the case, but without debate; if there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to. If the decision be in favor of the member called to order, he shall be at liberty to proceed; if otherwise, he shall not be permitted to proceed, in case any member object, without leave of the House; and if the case require it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.—April 7, 1789, and March 13, 1822.

63. No member shall speak more than once to the same question without leave of the House—April 7, 1789—unless he be the mover, proposer, or introducer of the matter pending; in which case he shall be permitted to speak in reply, but not until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken.—January 14, 1840.

114. In Committee of the Whole on the state of the Union, the bills shall be taken up and disposed of in their order on the calendar; but when objection is made to the consideration of a bill, a majority of the committee shall decide, without debate, whether it shall be taken up and disposed of, or laid aside; provided, that general appropriation bills, and, in time of war, bills for raising men or money, and bills concerning a treaty of peace, shall be preferred to all other bills, at the discretion of the committee; and when demanded by any member, the question shall first be put in regard to them—July 27, 1848; and all debate on special orders shall be confined strictly to the measure under consideration.—March 16, 1860.

OF BILLS.

115. Every bill shall be introduced on the report of a committee, or by motion for leave. In the latter case, at least one day's notice shall be given of the motion in the House, or by filing a memorandum thereof with the Clerk, and having it entered on the journal; and the motion shall be made, and the bill introduced, if leave is given, when resolutions are called for; such motion, or the bill when introduced, may be committed.—April 8, 1789; September 15, 1837; and March 2, 1838.

117. The first reading of a bill shall be for information, and if opposition be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall this bill be rejected?" If no

118. Upon the second reading of a bill, the Speaker shall state it as ready for commitment or engrossment; and if committed, then a question shall be, whether to a select or standing committee, or to a Committee of the Whole House; if to a Committee of the Whole House, the House shall determine on what day—November 13, 1794; if no motion be made to commit, the question shall be stated on its engrossment; and if it be not ordered to be engrossed on the day of its being reported, it shall be placed on the general file on the Speaker's table, to be taken up in order.—September 14, 1837. But if the bill be ordered to be engrossed, the House shall appoint the day when it shall be read the third time.—November 13, 1794.

119. General appropriation bills shall be in order in preference to any other bills of a public nature, unless otherwise ordered by a majority of the House.—September 14, 1837.

And the House may, at any time, by a vote of a majority of the members present, make any of the general appropriation bills a special order.—March 16, 1860.

120. No appropriation shall be reported in such general appropriation bills, or be in order as an amendment thereto, for any expenditure not previously authorized by law—September 14, 1837—unless in continuation of appropriations for such public works and objects as are already in progress, and for the contingencies for carrying on the several departments of the government.—March 13, 1838.

121. Upon the engrossment of any bill making appropriations of money for works of internal improvement of any kind or description, it shall be in the power of any member to call for a division of the question, so as to take a separate vote of the House upon each item of improvement or appropriation contained in said bill, or upon such items separately, and others collectively, as the members making the call may specify; and if one-fifth of the members present second said call, it shall be the duty of the Speaker to make such divisions of the question, and put them to vote accordingly.—February 26, 1846.

122. The bills from the Court of Claims shall, on being laid before the House, be read a first and second time, committed to a Committee of the Whole House, and, together with the accompanying reports, printed.—March 16, 1860.

123. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend; and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.—March 13, 1822. Whenever a bill is reported from a Committee of the Whole with a recommendation to strike out the enacting words, and such recommendation is disagreed to by the House, the bill shall stand recommitted to the said committee without further action by the House.—March 16, 1860.

After commitment and report thereof to the House, or at any time before its passage, a bill may be recommitted—April 7, 1789; and should such recommitment take place after its engrossment, and an amendment be reported and agreed to by the House, the question shall be again put on the engrossment of the bill.—March 16, 1860.

LOCAL OR PRIVATE BUSINESS.

128. Friday and Saturday in every week shall be set apart for the consideration of private bills and private business, in preference to any other, unless otherwise determined by a majority of the House.—January 22, 1810, and January 26, 1826.

129. On the first and fourth Friday and Saturday of each month the calendar of private bills shall be called over, (the chairman of the Committee of the Whole House commencing the call where he left off the previous day,) and the bills to the passage of which no objection shall then be made shall be first considered and disposed of.—January 25, 1839. But when a bill is again reached, after having been once objected to, the committee shall consider and dispose of the same, unless it shall again be objected to by at least five members.—March 16, 1860.

OF BILLS ON LEAVE AND RESOLUTIONS.

130. All the States and Territories shall be called for bills on leave and resolutions on each alternate Monday during each session of Congress; and, if necessary to secure the object on said days, all resolutions which shall give rise to debate shall lie over for discussion, under the rules of the House already established; and the whole of said days shall be appropriated to bills on leave and resolutions, until all the States and Territories are called through.—February 6, 1838. And the Speaker shall first call the States and Territories for bills on leave; and all bills so introduced during the first hour after the journal is read shall be referred, without debate, to their appropriate committees: Provided, however, That a bill so introduced and referred shall not be brought back into the House upon a motion to reconsider.—March 16, 1860.

OF THE PREVIOUS QUESTION.

132. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?"—April 7, 1789. It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present.—February 24, 1812; and its effects shall be to put an end to all debate, and to bring the House to a direct vote upon a motion to commit, if such motion shall have been made; and if this motion does not prevail, then upon amendments reported by the committee, if any; then—August 5, 1848—upon pending amendments, and then upon the main question.—January 14, 1840. But its only effect, if a motion to postpone is pending, shall be to bring the House to a vote upon such motion. Whenever the House shall refuse to order the main question, the consideration of the subject shall be resumed as though no motion for the previous question had been made. The House may also, at any time, on motion seconded by a majority of the members present, close all debate upon a pending amendment, or an amendment thereto, and cause the question to be put thereon; and this shall not preclude any further amendment or debate upon the bill. A call of the House shall not be in order after the previous question is seconded, unless it shall appear, upon an actual count by the Speaker, that no quorum is present.—March 16, 1860.

133. On a previous question there shall be no debate.—December 17, 1805. All incidental questions of order arising after a motion is made for the previous question, and, pending such motion, shall be decided, whether on appeal or otherwise, without debate.—September 15, 1837.

136. After six days from the commencement of a second or subsequent session of any Congress, all bills, resolutions, and reports which originated in the House, and at the close of the next preceding session remained undetermined, shall be resumed and acted on in the same manner as if an adjournment had not taken place.—March 17, 1848. And all business before committees of the House at the end of one session shall be resumed at the commencement of the next session of the same Congress as if no adjournment had taken place.—March 16, 1860.

And when the Speaker, or any other member, shall inform the House that he has communications to make which he conceives ought to be kept secret, the House shall, in like manner, be cleared till the communication be made; the House shall then determine whether the matter communicated requires secrecy or not, and take order accordingly.—February 17, 1792, and December 30, 1793.

144. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Jefferson's Manual shall govern the House in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules and orders of the House, and joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.—September 15, 1837.

145. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor—November 13, 1794; nor shall any rule be suspended, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present—March 13, 1822; nor shall the order of business, as established by the rules, be postponed or changed, except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present; nor shall the Speaker entertain a motion to suspend the rules, except during the last ten days of the session, and on Monday of every week at the expiration of one hour after the journal is read—April 26, 1828—unless the call of States and Territories for bills on leave and resolutions has been earlier concluded, when the Speaker may entertain a motion to suspend the rules.—June 8, 1864.

QUESTIONS OF ORDER,

SCHUYLER COLFAX, OF INDIANA, SPEAKER.

THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1864.—Page 368.

Mr. Arnold, from the Committee on Roads and Canals, reported a bill (H. R. 321) to construct a ship canal for the passage of armed and naval vessels from the Mississippi river to Lake Michigan, and for other purposes; which was read a first and second time.

It having been proposed to proceed to the consideration of the bill,

Mr. Holman made the point of order, that inasmuch as the fifth section provided for the payment of certain money into the treasury of the United States, and also makes an appropriation whereby it may be taken out of the treasury, it must receive its first consideration in the Committee of the Whole.

The Speaker sustained the point of order.

In which decision of the Chair the House acquiesced.

SATURDAY, APRIL 9, 1864.—Page 506.

During debate upon the resolution for the expulsion of Alexander Long,

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne called Mr. Benjamin G. Harris to order for the following words just used by him in debate, viz: "The south asked you to let them live in peace. But no; you said you would bring them into subjugation. That is not done yet; and God Almighty grant that it never may be. I hope that you will never subjugate the south."

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Edward H. Rollins) sustained the said point of order.

And Mr. Harris thereupon took his seat.

In which decision of the Chair the House acquiesced.

TUESDAY, APRIL 12, 1864.—Page 518.

Pending the consideration of the resolution for the expulsion of Alexander Long,

Mr. Broomall proposed to submit the following amendment in the nature of a substitute for the same, viz:

Whereas Alexander Long, a representative from the second district of Ohio, by his open declarations in the national Capitol, and publications in the city of New York, has shown himself to be in favor of a recognition of the so-called confederacy now trying to establish itself upon the ruins of our country, thereby giving aid and comfort to the enemy in that destructive purpose—aid to avowed traitors, in erecting an illegal government within our borders—comfort to them, by assurances of their success, and affirmations of the justice of their cause; and whereas such conduct is at the same time evidence of disloyalty and inconsistent with his oath of office and his duty as a member of this body: Therefore,

Resolved, That the said Alexander Long, a representative from the second district of Ohio, be, and he is hereby, declared to be an unworthy member of the House of Representatives.

Resolved, That the Speaker shall read these resolutions to the said Alexander Long during the session of the House.

The same having been read,

Mr. Eldridge made the point of order that the said amendment was out of order, on the ground that the words spoken by Mr. Long were not taken down in writing at the time of their utterance, nor was exception taken to them either in Committee of the Whole or in the House until after another member had spoken and other business had intervened.

And

Mr. Holman made the point of order that it was out of order because not germane to the original proposition.

The Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Edward H. Rollins) overruled the point of order, and decided that the amendment proposed was in order.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Eldridge appealed.

Pending which,

The House adjourned.

THURSDAY, APRIL 14, 1864.—Pages 519, 520.

The House resumed the consideration of the preamble and resolution submitted on Saturday last by Mr. Colfax, in regard to Mr. Long, one of the representatives from the State of Ohio—the pending question being on the appeal taken from the decision of the Speaker pro tempore (Mr. Edward H. Rollins) that the amendment proposed to be submitted by Mr. Broomall was in order.

After debate,

The question was put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

And it was decided in the affirmative,	{ Yeas.....	19
	{ Nays.....	66

So the decision of the Chair was sustained.

FRIDAY, APRIL 29, 1864.—Page 595.

Mr. Brooks was called to order for irrelevant remarks, and having taken his seat, and the decision of the Chair that he was out of order having been submitted to,

Mr. William H. Miller moved that Mr. Brooks be permitted to proceed in order.

And the question being put,

It was decided in the affirmative,	{ Yeas.....	83
	{ Nays.....	36

SATURDAY, APRIL 16, 1864.—Pages 537, 538.

The Speaker having announced as the business next in order the bill of the House (H. R. 395) to provide a national currency secured by a pledge of United States bonds, and to provide for the circulation and redemption thereof—heretofore introduced by Mr. Hooper and its further consideration postponed until this day,

Mr. Holman made the point of order that the said bill must receive its first consideration in the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, on the ground that it imposed a tax, and also made an appropriation.

The Speaker overruled the said point of order, on the ground that it contained no appropriation, nor did it impose a tax upon the people, such as was contemplated by the rule.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Holman appealed.

And the question being put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It was decided in the affirmative, { Yeas ..... 71
Nays ..... 31

So the decision of the Chair was sustained.

Mr. Fernando Wood also made the point of order that the bill must be first considered in Committee of the Whole, because it created new offices, and affixed salaries to the same, and thereby created a charge upon the people.

The Speaker overruled the said point of order, on the ground that the salaries created by the bill must be appropriated for by another bill, and that no appropriation is made therefor by the present bill.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Wood appealed.

And the question being put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It was decided in the affirmative, { Yeas ..... 85
Nays ..... 9

So the decision of the Chair was sustained.

Mr. Holman having proposed to renew the point of order just made on the suggestion that other sections of the bill than those already referred to contained an appropriation,

The Speaker decided that the said point of order could not be renewed, on the ground that such a practice would open the door to an indefinite number of appeals, and he referred to a decision in the 32d Congress in confirmation of his decision.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Holman appealed.

And the question being put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It was decided in the affirmative.

So the decision of the Chair was sustained.

THURSDAY, APRIL 28, 1864.—Pages 586, 587.

The Speaker having announced as the result of a vote yeas 71, nays 72, and that it was decided in the negative,

Mr. Upson stated that he had voted in the affirmative, and that his vote was erroneously omitted to be counted.

The Speaker then announced the vote on the said amendment—yeas, 72; nays, 72;

When

Mr. Philip Johnson made the point of order that it was too late to correct the former announcement of the vote.

The Speaker overruled the said point of order.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Johnson appealed.

And the question being put, Shall the decision of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?

It was decided in the affirmative.

The Speaker then voted in the negative on the said amendment, and declared that the amendment was disagreed to.

SATURDAY, APRIL 30, 1864.—Pages 598, 599.

Mr. Stevens, from the Committee of Ways and Means, to whom was referred the bill of the House (H. R. 198) making appropriations for the support of the army for the year ending the 30th of June, 1865, with the amendments of the Senate thereto, reported the same, recommending concurrence in the 8th amendment with an amendment, and concurrence in the remaining amendments without amendment.

The House having, by unanimous consent, proceeded to their consideration,

The amendments numbered 1, 2, 3, 4, and 5 were severally read and agreed to.

The 6th amendment having been read,

Mr. Holman moved to amend the same by striking out the word "pay," in section 2, line 6, of said amendment.

Pending which, after debate,

Mr. Holman proposed to modify his said amendment, as follows: Strike out all of the 6th amendment of the Senate after the said word "pay," to the end of said section, and insert in lieu thereof, "as other soldiers of the regular or volunteer service: Provided, however, That the pay of the private soldier of the army shall be twenty dollars per month from and after the 1st day of January, 1864, with a corresponding increase in the pay of the non-commissioned officers."

The Speaker decided that the said proposed modification was not in order, on the ground that it changed an existing law, which, by the rules of the House, was prohibited in an amendment to an appropriation bill, and was not germane to the Senate's amendment.

From this decision of the Chair Mr. Holman appealed.

Pending which,

Mr. Ellihu B. Washburne moved that the appeal be laid on the table.

And the question being put,

It was decided in the affirmative, {	Yeas .....	95
	Nays .....	25

So the appeal was laid on the table.
